[1/27/2014]

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is launching a nation-wide air traffic control specialist (ATCS) recruitment, outreach, and education program in advance of a public vacancy announcement expected on or about February 10, 2014. There are ATCS positions available at FAA locations across the country, and the FAA encourages all interested individuals who are eligible to apply for these positions.

Go to <https://usajobs.gov> and search for ATCS – Air Traffic Control Specialist

The FAA expects to accept applications for a short two-week period starting February 10, 2014. However, applicants should not wait for the vacancy to open in order to prepare application materials, and are highly encouraged to use the resume builder available on the USAJOBS website at www.usajobs.gov. In addition, the USAJOBS Resource Center is a good way to learn how to build a federal resume, as well as access tips and tutorials on how to apply and interview for federal jobs.
